Hello everyone,

All Things Reading

A huge thank you to Finn and Noah Horton's mother for a fantastic story reading on Wednesday. There was a great turnout and the children loved listening to a wonderful story before having a go at making their own Supertato. If any more parents would be interested in telling a story then please pop in to see Mrs Shale. It would be lovely to see some male storytellers too.

Reading adventures - It's been brilliant to see how many children from Year 2 have already embarked on their reading journey collecting stamps in their passports. These are still available in the library and you have until the Easter holidays to complete them.

School Library - we are delighted to see the school library being used so regularly in the mornings and after school. May I respectfully remind parents and carers that it is a quiet learning zone and children may be reading with parents. In order to help our children fully benefit from their time in the library please hold conversations elsewhere.

Soggy books— sadly many books are being ruined by leaking water bottles in book bags. Please carry the water bottles separately in order to avoid this.

Tell us what you think...

One of the roles of the Governors of Mudeford Infants is to support the school's parents/carers so that issues you feel are important to your child's education or general experience in school are considered. During the upcoming parent/teacher consultations on Wednesday 13th February representatives of the school's governing body will be available for you to share any views/ideas/opinions you have about the school and your child's education. We would be very much like to speak to you about your experiences of the school and welcome feedback of any sort.

If you would prefer to share opinions online and anonymously this can be done via the Ofsted Parent View website: <https://parentview.ofsted.gov.uk/>
